PRESS RELEASE

Thomas Homes launches 34 apartments in heritage district

Thomas Homes has launched the first phase of its exciting new landmark development in the heart of Swindon's heritage district, the site of the former Great Western Railway works, which is fast becoming one of the town's most desirable locations.

Priam House in Heritage Plaza consists of 34 high specification one and two bedroom apartments arranged over three floors. With its third floor apartments enjoying increased living space and private balconies offering impressive views of the town, Priam House will overlook a vibrant pedestrianised square and will offer contemporary design, style, convenience and comfort for today's busy urban lifestyle.

In the heart of the town's heritage district which consists of the National Trust, English Heritage, STEAM Museum, Designer Outlet Centre and the proposed new British Postal Museum, Heritage Plaza will comprise of five brand new residential blocks which will be released in phases and will consist of 124 apartments. The remaining four blocks – King House, Rokeby House, Garrett House and Cardean House – will be situated next to Priam House and will form an open air courtyard to the first floor with secure semi-covered parking below. In addition to the stylish apartments, Priam House will also offer modern office suites to the ground floor, while Cardean House will provide a convenient retail unit.

With a unique, vibrant atmosphere, Heritage Plaza is conveniently situated to the town centre with Swindon's many facilities within an easy walk and road or rail networks just minutes away.
